Plan for San Mateo County Refuse Disposal District

Standardized Medical Fee?

An innovation in the medical world that would put "standardization" of doctor's fees on a statewide basis has received strong aproval from many local physicians.

The revolutionary program calling for an establishment of an "average fee" was put before the California Medical assocition at their meeting Saturday and received wide acclamation there.

Basic structure of the plan calls for establishing a standard schedule showing an average price charged for service by the majority of doctors. No physician would be obligated to use such a schedule. He could still set any price he wished on his services, but he could not charge more than the "average fee" for his vicinity without first discussing the matter with the patient and obtaining the latter's agreement.

The polling of doctors on health insurance and fee standardization topics similar to those taken up at the state medical society's recent meet will probably be complete in this county before any other in the state, according to Robert L. Wood, executive secretary of San Mateo county's medical society.

Wood said the poll is nearly complete in this county but said he could give no results until a later date.

"This does not mean that any new system will be set up here first," he added. "However," he continued, "Doctors in this county have been given a liberal education in these matters not found in most other counties."

Dr. Julius Roy Greenberg of Daly City summed up the movement for THE RECORD by saying that the threat of "socialized medicine has awakened the nation's doctors to the dissastisfaction among patients. They have come to discover that the old scheme is not exactly the answer."

Dr. Greenberg said he felt the standardization of fees plan would help avoid misunderstandings that sometimes arise between the doctor and the patient. He explained that the value of the fee schdule would lie in the fact that the patient could check to see if he's paying an exorbitant fee. "Many times the problem is that the patient thinks he's being charged too much," Dr. Greenberg added.

The physician said he thought the standardized fee idea "might make it difficult for doctors who are accustomed to making excessive charges."

Another local man, Dr. Ivan T. Budaeff, said he was "in full agreement with the plan. He was of the opinion that the "relationship between the doctor and the patient would be closer," with inauguration of the plan. He explained that the fee schedule plane would act as an instrument to "educate the patient" to costs for medical services. He said the plan would still give the doctor a free hand in charging a somewhat higher price on more serious cases, but that the patient would have knowledge of the higher fee beforehand.

A New Basis

"The plan will put medical care on a different basis," said Dr. Victor Brochard. "It will result in better understand between patient and doctor and will reestablish the patient's confidence in his doctor." Dr. Brochard also brought forth a point that was taken up at last weekend's medical association meeting—that of medical insurance. He said that although the insurance companies already have their own set fees, the matter has long come up for discussion on deciding indemnity for illnesses and accidents.

Dr. Brochard, who said he voted yes in the poll taken by the medical society to determine member's opinions on the plan, said the vote was about ten to one for the plan.

Another local doctor, who declined to have his name used, said he was in favor of the plan. "In fact," he said, "I have been using a similar plan of my own for quite some time."

Reduce Prices

This doctor thought that the standardization of fees would tend to reduce the charging of exorbitant prices by some doctors. "However," he said, "I don't believe the talk of socialized medicine had anything to do with the idea."

A San Francisco county medical society spokesman contacted by THE RECORD said he thought it was a little early for any definite conclusions to be drawn on the plan, and pointed out that he thought the matter needed a few more months "to jell."

County Orders Rice Hull Burning Stopped at Site Near Colma

ONE SOURCE of smog during recent months was this site near Colma in back of the Chinese cemetery. The county ordered burning of rice hulls here stopped because of complaint by many Daly City, Broadmoor, Colma, San Bruno and South San Francisco residents, and McLellan nurseries in Colma, who claimed loss of $4500 worth of orchids because of the fumes. Indications are now that the board of supervisors will be asked by the health board for the formation of a county-wide refuse disposal district.

Health Board Claims "Smog" in County Could Be Eliminated

Formation of a county-wide refuse disposal district may be in the offing.

The county board of health met Monday night and approved the sending of a recommendation to the board of supervisors asking for the establishment of a refuse disposal district in the county.

Dr. Harold Chope, head of the county health department, told THE RECORD that recent complaint of smog in Daly City and other north county areas due to the burning of rice hulls had just been one of the many reasons that the board is asking for the formation of the district.

He said that merely placing orders against burning of rubbish is not the answer, and said he approved highly of the formation of a refuse disposal district.

"The main sources of smog in the area are refuse burning, trains, trucks, buses, autos and industry in general," Dr. Chope said.

As far as the county smog's injurious effects on humans, Dr. Chope said the subject is still a matter of medical research. He stated that the effects of the smog on humans were, at the least, highly undesirable, causing irritation of the nose and throat and coughing.

"We already have evidence that the smog is adversely affecting the county's economy," he said, pointing out that some $4500 worth of orchids in a nursery near Colma had been ruined recently.

Explaining that the idea of forming such a district was not a new one, Chope said that the air-pollution committee has studied the county's problem for a period of two and one half years now. He said that county health engineer Eugene Howell has made extensive inquiry into the smog conditions here.

Redwood City and Burlingame city officials have already indicated they would go along with the formation of a district to combat the smog problem, Dr. Chope said.

Daly City Mayor Anthony Gaggero said the county hadn't taken up the matter with the local government and therefore he declined to comment until making further study.

Westlake Associat'n. Committee Named

A. L. Desmond, newly-elected president of the Westlake Improvement Association, has named the following Westlakers who will serve on the following committees:

Architectural Committee — Donald Haas, 50 Fairlawn; Theodore F. Bartels, 46 Westdale; Harold Holman, 71 Cliffside; Kenneth A. Sulivan, 18 Dorchester; James D. Wedlake, 21 Fairway.

Membership Committee—Howard Dunbar, 93 Fairway; Mrs. John D. Drye, 148 Wilsihre; Edw. H. Ewing, 78 Sheffield; John C. Iacono, 153 Wilshire; Linwood Frates, 248 Westbrook.

Clubhouse Committee — Mrs. Hartley Apleton, 1 El Portal Way; John C. Iacono, 153 Wilshire; Archie Lumardi, 44 Castlemont; Mrs. Wm. Rosener, 53 Clifton.

For the first time since the establishment of the Westlake Improvement Association, women have been named to serve on the committees, Desmond feels that women play an important part in our community and should be given the opportunity to serve on the various committees if they have the time and inclination to do so.

Chairmen for the committees will be decided upon by the committee members themselves when they meet in the very near future. In the meantime, any member who wishes help or information on architectural, membership or clubhouse matters should write to the Westlake Improvement Association, 95 South Mayfair, Daly City, or phone direct to the committee members indicated above.

More volunteers are needed for other committees, Desmond said. He pointed out that both men and women can serve their community. The new president asked that those interested in making the association a better one call him at PL. 5-3017.

Urging all Westlakers to boost the association, Desmond said: "We will get out of it only what each and every member puts into it. Cooperate with the officers you have elected. If you have neglected to pay your 1952 membership dues, do it today. Checks may be mailed directly to the association at 95 Mayfair or may be paid at the Crown Drug company in the shopping center.

Ask Re-Zoning Of Bepler Property

The Daly City planning commission Tuesday night discussed a request for the re-zoning of property at the end of Bepler street from single-family dwellings to apartment houses.

Dale G. Stuart, 1664 Taraval, San Francisco, asked that the section be rezoned because he felt it was the best way "to benefit Daly City inasmuch as the city has a great need for rental units close to town."

A public hearing will be held on his request for re-zoning at a later date.

Petition filed earlier by Michael C. Callan asking annexation of uninhabited county property in the Abbey Homestead area was filed by the commission. On recommendation of the council the commission will place the matter in the hands of the city engineer. The council objected to the maps of the county territory submitted with the petition which provided for annexation of sections of the

LOCAL RESIDENT BLASTS HIGH TAX ASSESMENT

"Daly City is taking a beating on property assessments." So said Joseph Gilmore, 754 Niantic, a veteran state assemblyman from the north county and Democratic assembly candidate in the last election.

Gilmore, who appeared at a citizens' meeting in Bayshore Friday night as an interested party in that area's discussion of high property assessments, outlined a plan whereby the north county would get fairer treatment in assessment.

He said that some property in Burlingame, for example, that was almost identical to Daly City property, was being assessed at less value. "This is ridiculous," he added.

Gilmore said there was nothing the taxpayers could do now, but suggested that an independent group be formed in the future to

Lions Draft Plan For Fast Action On Daly City Parking

Stating that the problems of parking will become increasingly severe with the growth of the city, the Daly City-Colma Lions have asked that the city council establish a parking commission here.

The civic improvement and community betterment committee of the Lions met recently and outlined a nine-section ordinance that might be used in the establishment of a parking commission.

The Lions-proposed ordinance would call for a commission of five members who would be appointed by resolution of the city council.

Two would be appointed for a period of one year, two for two

Low Bid $33,897 On Crocker Playground

Low bid of $33,897, submitted by Wililam McIntosh & Sons, San Francisco, was accepted by the board of trustees of the Jefferson elementary school district for improvement of Crocker school playground at a special meeting Tuesday night.

Construction on the grounds will begin immediately, according to H. Z. Weibel, superintendent of the district. Weibel said work would begin now to take advantage of the absence of students at the school during the holidays.

Construction will consist of removing dangerous high bulkheads; eliminating steep slopes from the play space; enlarging the play area; constructing of a softball court, two basketball and volley ball courts, a tanbark area and tether ball courts; installing fencing; planting slopes and providing safe access to the grounds.

Plans and specification for the playground were drawn by Mario P. Ciampi, architect.

"When complete the playground space will be a safe and useful addition to the school's facilities," Weibel said.

Other bidders on the project were: Fay Improvement company, $53,400; C. M. Pelletz, $48,200; H. Henry Harris, $47,918; Bernal Construction company, $34,700.

Other business before the board at the Tuesday meeting was: Employment of Mrs. Betty Boykin of San Francisco to replace Mrs.

Garments Taken From Salesman's Car Last Week

A salesman passing through Daly City last week had $1531 worth of children's clothing samples stolen from his car while it was parked by a cabin at the El Camino motel where he was staying.

The Los Angeles salesman, Walter Anshen, reported the theft to local police, who later recovered 16 infant dresses that had been discarded in front of a residence at 2139 Pierce street. The garments, however, were valued at only $66 of the total stolen. Police have reported no leads on the case to date.

BIDS FOR PAINT JOB ON CITY HALL VARY "SLIGHTLY"

Due to the "slight" discrepancy of some $1700 in bids submitted Monday night for painting of the city hall the council deemed it practical to hold the bids so that some check of materials to be used might be made.

On opening the ten bids the City Purchases Park Site from Doelger Co.

The city council Monday night authorized payment of $10,000 to Henry Doelger & Co. for purchase of the city park site off Lake Merced and Alemany boulevards.

The property was purchased at a cost of $1000 an acre. Surveying is underway at the site and following its completion the city will go ahead with plans for the establisihng of a park there.

No Municipal Court Clerk Here

A full-time municipal court clerk for Daly City seemed a remote prospect following a meeting held Monday night between the city council and new muni court judge, Thomas L. Bocci Jr.

Bocci, who will assume the position in the new court set-up after the first of the year, said there was little chance of Daly City having its own full-time clerk.

He said his South San Francisco office will have only four clerks, instead of six, as requested by him.

"In order to legally maintain a clerk here for the collecting of fines," Bocci said, "he would have to be on the county payroll." He added that it would be unlikely for the county to put out the additional money for a clerk here.

The other alternative offered by Bocci was that the council contact the state assembly and ask that they pass an amendment to the municipal court act allowing the city to hire a deputy clerk.

Councilman Paul Green said the cities were not consulted in the reorganization of the lower courts and therefore should not have to offer any pecuniary aid.

All trials will be held in the South San Francisco office, according to Bocci, but he said he would appear one day a week, Friday morning, for about an hour to take care of local traffic matters.

Bocci said he would contact Police Chief Roland Petrocchi on the matter of issuing citations locally. He said the local police department could specify on the citations the date and time that he would appear here, thus making it more convenient for local

ADDITION TO JEFFERSON UNION HIGH SCHOOL MARIO J. CIAMPI ARCHITECT A.I.A

THIS ULTRA new addition will be made soon to the Jefferson high school. The building will be a continuation of the auditorium and will be located at the south end of the school. The plans are presently before the state division of architecture for approval and then will go to the state division of school house planning. Advertising for bids on the structure will be held February 1, on state approval. Money for building the addition was approved at a bond issue held in the spring of 1951. The modern structure will contain a cafeteria, clothing room, foods laboratory, nurse's room, room for a little theatre and vocal music, and a teachers' conference room.

Sewage Plant Cost Estimate Is $575,000

Cost for construction of a primary type sewage treatment plant here was estimated at $575,000 by Harry Jenks, sewage district engineer, in his report delivered before the district's board of directors in the council chambers Monday.

CITIZENS GROUP ASK DONATIONS

A volunteer citizens' committee, headed by Peter Markovich and assisted by Mayor Anthony Gaggero, Councilmen Paul Green and James Kennedy, today directed an appeal to all men of good will to contribute to the St. Vincent de Paul Society's Christmas Charity Fund.

The St. Vincent de Paul Society has been carrying the burden of caring for the needy regardless of race, color or creed for many years and, as Mr. Markovich points out, there are no doubt many people in Daly City who would welcome the opportunity to bring a measure of happiness into the lives of those less fortunate than themselves at Christmas time.

Markovich said, "The hope for things which gladden the hearts of little children at Christmas would not be realized in those families reduced to dire circumstances by misfortune or inadequate income or both were it not for those possessed of the real spirit of Christmas, the spirit of giving.

"May the generous impulses that grip all of us at this great season lead to a remembrance of the knowledge that your donation to the Christmas Charity Fund has brought happiness to others."

Mail or bring your contribution to Peter Markovich, chairman, St. Vincent de Paul Society Christmas Fund, 6454 Mission street.

COUNCIL TO DISCUSS CAB APPLICATION

Discussion on the Westlake Cab Co.'s application for operation here will probably be held at a caucus meeting of the council Monday night, according to Mayor Anthony Gaggero.

The mayor said the council had already inspected the records of the Hilltop Cab Co. but as yet had arrived at no decision.

Gaggero said George Kirchhubel, one of the Hilltop Cab owners, would probably be present at the Monday night meeting.

until a later date, according to James Kennedy, secretary of the district.

Kennedy said that the figure given by Jenks for installing the plant might be lowered after some study on the matter.

One method of economizing might be on disposal of sludge from the plant, Kennedy said. If the district is required to carry away the waste from the plant it will cost approximately $30,000 a year, he said. However, if the water pollution board allows them to drain it off into the sea this expense could be eliminated, he pointed out.

Following the board's approval of Jenks reports a public hearing must be held. After the hearing the district can then go ahead and set up the bond issue for submission to the district's voters.

The board's next meeting will be held Dec. 22 in the council chambers.

years, and one for three years. Successors would be appointed for a term of four years.

The Lions stated that the positions would be non-compensatory, but added that the council should provide funds, equipment and accommodations necessary for the commission to carry out their work.

The commission's duties, according to the ordinance proposed, would be to make reports to the council on the following: use of parking meters; availability of off-street parking; privately owned parking lots; city owned parking lots; parking time limitations; overtime parking fees; and overall parking plan for future development.

He said that many Daly City property owners "yowl about their high taxes, but don't do anything about them."

"The board of supervisors always comes up with the answer that the state board of equalization ordered them to raise assessments," he said. "This is not true. The county had to request the increased assessment," he explained.

land, rather than the entire area.

Discussion was also held concerning land facing Thiers and Lausanne streets, which the Jefferson elementary school district seeks to use for a school site. Further inquiry will be made at the next meeting, with all interested parties in attendance.

The planning commission also agreed to hold their regular meetings the first Monday of each month rather than the second Tuesday.

Secretary of the commission, Sanford Vickers, expressed the hope that the group would be able to go into the more intricate details of the heavy planning agenda in the interims between meetings.

Next meeting of the commission will be held Jan. 5.

SORRY, $63,000 IS ALREADY SPOKEN FOR

A polite request from South San Francisco's City Manager Emmons McClung was turned down with equal politeness by Daly City's council Monday night.

McClung, informing the council that Daly City had a total of some $63,000 in unused money allocated by the state, asked that this city turn the sum over to South San Francisco for their use in current projects.

McClung explained that if Daly City didn't claim the money by June 30 it would revert to the state's general fund anyway.

To avoid this turn of events the council let it be known that the city of Daly City intended to make use of the funds, and also agreed to inform McClung of their intentions.

"Charity begins at home," said Councilman Paul Green, and that seemed to be the general opinion prevailing in the council chambers.

citizens.

Bocci said there were still many bugs in the set-up. "A good part of the new court will be trial and error experience," Bocci said, and added that if the city "has any problems be sure and contact me."

Some discussion was held as to the status of Immelda Alice Boggio, clerk of Judge William Sweeney's court, who has served there since Sept. 15, 1943. Bocci said she had been offered a position in the South San Francisco court.

Mrs. Boggio said, however, that she had declined the clerk's post there because of the inconvenience of travelling to South City.

Bocci said Daly City would be sent its fine reimbursements daily. He explained that a special cash register will be in use at the office to tally fine money for cities in the muni court district.

All cities in the district will receive 100 per cent of their vehicle code violation fines and also a percentage of highway patrol fines.

Bids for Paint Job on City Hall Vary "Slightly"

council discovered total costs for painting the building to range from $1690 to $3329.

Councilman Paul Green, commenting that the city didn't want to buy a "pig in a poke," made a motion that all bidders submit a list of the types of material they intended to use for the job.

Councilman Joe Verducci said he believed this was the council's fault for not asking for material specifications and said the further specifications would be a waste of the painters' time.

A member of the audience, directing his statements to Green, said that the difference in cost between the cheapest and the best materials shouldn't alter the figure for the entire job $200 at the most.

However, after some discussion, Green's motion was passed and the council agreed to defer the matter until the Dec. 22 meeting.

Painting work to be done on the building includes exterior stuccoing, exterior windows and trim, and interior ceiling, walls and trim in the city clerks office and the water collection department.

The After-Hours Parking Problem Again

The city's after-hours parking situation seems to have a lot of Daly City residents in a huff.

According to city ordinance, it is illegal to park cars on the streets between the hours of 1 and 6 p.m. However, knowing that there just isn't enough available off-street space for all of Daly City's vehicles, the local police temper their justice and only cite a car after someone has made a complaint.

The unlucky or unliked persons who have this fate befall them then must forfeit $1.50 for their infraction of the city ordinance.

This is the part that hurts and that's where all the trouble seems to emanate from.

John Doe arises in the morning, whisks out to his car, only to find that the gendarmes have pinned his windshield with a notice of his "lawlessness."

Seething with the need for revenge, John Doe maintains a vigil at his window the following night and makes sure every low-down-parking-in-the-street cuss gets his just due.

He dutifully reports all the law-breakers, who in turn are meted out the penalty and therefore are also in the market for revenge.

Before long all the neighbors are either out to get each other tagged or are complaining that the local police are showing favoritism in not tagging all the cars in town.

That, not quite in a nutshell, seems to be the problem.

Citing all cars parked on the streets at night isn't the solution, nor is abandoning the ordinance.

The latter would mean more thefts from parked autos and dirtier-than-usual streets.

Perhaps the Daly City Lions' proposal that a parking commission be established here would be a forward step. A commission devoted to such problems might be able to arrive at some solution.

At any the problem should be given a public airing so that those who have grievances may at least be heard.

Doctors Propose Intelligent Plan

We believe the California Medical association has brought forth an intelligent idea in their proposed plan for a standardization of fees. (See page one.)

As did many Daly City doctors questioned by THE RECORD, we believe the plan will result in better understanding between patient and doctor and also will do away with the exorbitant fees of a few practitioners who have engendered many fallacious beliefs about the medical profession as a whole.

From the few singular instances concerning doctors eking fabulous sums out of patients, many people have come to place all doctors in the category of financial bleeders.

It is time the public was put wise and we can see no better agency to convey the truth than the doctors themselves.

Truly a Trial and Error Experience

Whether the new municipal court will exist as an institution of judicial efficiency will not be known for quite some time.

As it apepars now, the reorganization of the lower courts in the first township, including Daly City, into one municipal court in South San Francisco leaves Daly City worse off than before.

The municipal court judge, Thomas L. Bocci Jr., will be in Daly City for only an hour or so each week to hear traffic matters and collect fines.

For these past years Daly City has had its own Justice court, where traffic violation fines could be paid and minor criminal manners dispensed with, as well as preliminary hearings on cases bound for higher jurisdictions.

When the muni court begins operation Daly City residents having need of its "services" must either travel all the way to South San Francisco or appear at the specified time in the city hall on Friday.

Money due cities in the muni court jurisdiction must be sent every day from the court, and all the records for the township must be handled at the central location. If the state was seeking integration of the courts, they will have achieved it in the new court set-up, but whether this integration means efficiency in disposing of cases and convenience for the people remains to be seen.

Even Judge Bocci has said that "It will be a trial and error experience" to begin with.

No Tricks, No Panaceas

Candidate Dwight Eisenhower said during the Presidential campaign that in proposing a trip to Korea he had no panaceas, no tricks for settling the long impasse over there. In Korea last week President-elect Eisenhower repeated that point. And he added: "We came over here to learn . . . to get a grasp of the feeling in this part of the world."

Precisely what he learned is not likely to be revealed, but this knowledge undoubtedly will be translated into a course of action after the new regime takes office on January 20. "Much can be done," he said, "to improve our position—much will be done."

Three days is a very brief period in which to make a first hand study of a problem so vast and complex as that in Korea. Yet, there can be no question of the value of the trip even for such a quick look. He surely learned more about the morale of the fighting men, especially the morale of the hard-fighting Koreans. And he surely contributed much to the morale of all engaged in that struggle against Soviet aggression by his visit. He came away with a "better picture of the terrain, and the possibilities—military and economic."

The next President makes it clear, however, that any moves will be made only after careful thought as to their probable consequences and their effect on the other fronts in this world-wide struggle of World War III.

The American people are glad that General Eisenhower made the trip. But they are even more glad that he is back home again.

Statistics Place Monetary Value on Wives

If you are a Daly City housewife putting in the usual 12 to 15 hours a day on your duties you may be interested to know that you are saving friend husband at least $7 a day by your efforts. The U. S. Bureau of Labor Statistics estimates that domestic help runs around $7 a day. Of course, that does not include overtime. So, actually you may be worth $12 a day since you don't work by the clock. In addition to your value as a housekeeper you might also rate some additional worth for serving as baby-raiser, adviser, trouble-shooter and peace-maker in the family. What this would come to in dollars and cents can't be estimated, but if the 45 million American housewives should decide to get together and demand wages from 45 million American husbands they'd have quite a case in their favor. And if the husbands didn't yield, wifey could have the kids march up and down in front of the house carrying placards reading "Unfair husband" or "Dad's a drip." This should result in more recognition for the little woman—or more divorces.

A Revolting Revelation

The revelation of racketeering on the New York water front which costs shipper—and the public—an estimated $350 million a year, does not come as a great surprise. This evil condition has long been known to exist. Only now is it becoming more or less official with the New York Crime Commission dipping into the facts. But the facts when revealed in detail are nevertheless shocking. For instance, it has been admitted that known criminals are hired as bosses on the waterfront. Also, there is so much pilferage that it runs into the tens of mililons every year. One act of pilferage, for example, involved the disappearance of 10 tons of steel. Pay kickbacks by longshoremen to their bosses and gratuities to labor officials by stevedoring companies also run into the millions annually. The crime investigation may bring about some reforms on the New York waterfront. The're long overdue.

DALY CITY FIRE DEPARTMENT GIVES SUGGESTIONS FOR CHRISTMAS SAFETY

For your Merry (fire safe) Christmas, the Fire Prevention Bureau of the Daly City Fire Department offers the following four suggestions:

1. Purchase only those electrical toys and Christmas tree and decorative lighting outfits which comply with the safety standards of the Underwriters' Laboratories. Purchase only equipment with the U.L. label.

2. Inspect your tree light sets for frayed wires or broken sockets. Do not overload the electrical circuits. The maximum number of Christmas tree lighting units that should be conected together are: ten eight-lamp, miniature-base, series connected units; candelabra base, multiple connected units (based on a consumption of 7.5 watts per lamp), which will involve a total of not more than 50 lamp holders; or intermediate-base, multiple-connected units (based on a consumption of 10 watts per lamp), which will involve a total of not more than 60 lampholders. Don't plug in too many light sets and appliances on one extension cord.

3. Purchase a freshly-cut Christmas tree which has been stored out-of-doors and keep it out-of-doors until needed. In preparing the tree for indoor use, saw off the end at an angle at least one inch above the original cut: also cut vertical grooves into the cambium of the tree trunk. Keep the tree standing in water during the entire period it is in the house, adding water as necessary to keep the water level above the cuts. This procedure will help materially to keep down the flammability of the tree. An even safer course to follow is to purchase a living tree which can be planted out of doors after the holiday season. Flameproofing Christmas trees is another safe and cheap way to insure a fire free holiday.

4. In decorating you home for Christmas, don't let your aesthetic taste by your only guide: avoid the use of fammable decorations as much as possible and when you do use them, prevent them from coming in contact with electric lights. Above all, don't use candles near flammable decorations, curtains or drapes.

In spite of this somewhat pessimistic prelude to the holiday season, the Daly City Fire Department wishes you a Merry Christmas and a prosperous New Year.

Bocci Lauds Outgoing Daly City, SSF Judges as "Builders of Cities"

To my many good friends of San Mateo county, particularly those of my district, I extend my sincerest wishes for a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

At the beginning of the year 1953, a milestone in the progress of San Mateo county will have been achieved. The new Municipal Court will supercede the existing Courts of this District, at which time all incumbent Judges of inferior Courts will go out of office. It would appear apropos at this time to comment upon the fine work of your City Judges during that colorful era which witnessed the progress of this north end of San Mateo county, from a thinly sparsed community to one of the leading centers of population in the Bay Area.

During that growth, your City Courts lent a most judicious hand in the development of the community. The services of two Judges, particularly Judge Sweeney of Daly City, who has presided for the past ten years, and Judge Robbins of South San Francisco, who has presided for the past eight years, have been as instrumental in that growth as any other factor, credit for which has never been accorded to them. It is men such as these as can be looked upon as "builders of cities." They untiringly gave of their time and effort towards the work of these Courts. Their services have been a credit to the legal profession, and as the years roll by, we as citizens of this area will not forget these men and the roll they played in the development of your community. As Judges, they were both stern, and they were merciful as the circumstances may have required. They developed a judicial policy of strict enforcement of all traffic violations and thereby made your cities a safe and sound place to live with your families. To these men who now retire from the Bench, we extend our profoundest wishes for continued good life in their remaining years.

I personally have known these men a relatively short period of time, during which I found both men to have had that judicial bent so necessary in the dispensation of justice. The lawyers of this community, I am sure, will join with me when I say that during their time on the bench, they operated their Courts in a manner true to the traditions of our Court system, and marked by a spirit of humanity and integrity so fundamental a part of our American way of life.

Very truly yours,
Thomas L. Bocci, Jr.

A Subscriber Lauds THE RECORD For Two Editorial Stands Taken Recently

Dear Sir:

Interesting indeed were your recent editorials appearing in your columns. The one concerning the San Mateo county District attorney's recent address to the church conference group at Sacramento on law enforcement and gambling was very well done. Many people are familiar with what that brought about. It was pleasing indeed to read how the district attorney stands on the fast dollar boys. He sure gave them a hair cut.

As to your editorial regarding who sets the limit on business, just how ridiculous can our city be made to appear. One wonders why do the Merchants Association and Chamber of Commerce stand by and not take a definite stand on such arbitrary methods.

Many thanks for your enlightening editorials.

TEN YEARS AGO IN THE RECORD

Thursday, Dec. 10—Daly City boys who have reached their eighteenth birthdays since July 1 will begin registering tomorrow with Daly City draft board No 103 in the first step toward duty with America's armed forces, it was announced yesterday by Dr. J. C. McGovern.

The sixth registration since the nation adopted the selective service system, the signup for eighteen year olds will be held during a three-week period, beginning tomorrow and ending on Thursday, Dec. 31.

With their work modeled after the assembly line of a modern war production plant, the Junior Red Cross army of Daly City began active duty this week in grammar schools of the Jefferson district.

War production started this week in the arts and crafts period, during which Daly City grammar school children will make lapboards, cribbage boards, and writing tables for soldiers, sailors, and marines confined to hospitals. Materials were being purchased for work to start at Crocker, Woodrow, and Jefferson elementary schools, according to R. L. Crane Jr., superintendent.

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO IN THE RECORD

Friday, Dec. 10—The general committee appointed by the Daly City Merchants Association, at its last regular meeting to arrange matters pertaining to the form of Christmas celebration in Daly City was called together Tuesday of this week at the City Hall by general chairamn W. E. Pitschke.

When the session convened it was found that a large number of our city organizations had sent representatives to the meeting.

It was decided to hold a Christmas party for all the children of every section of Daly City at the civic center, in front of the city hall Sunday evening, Dec. 19.

The sudden death of Miss Dorothy Hayden, 20-year-old daughter of Edward and Hilo Hayden of Junipero Serra boulevard near Westlake avenue on Sunday came as a distinct shock to her many friends.

The young woman was employed as a stenographer by a San Francisco insurance firm. She had not been enjoying the best of health for some months but her condition was not considered as being serious.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO IN THE RECORD

Friday, Dec. 9—The student body of Jefferson Union high school honored the members of the championship football team at a dance and rally in the auditorium last Friday evening.

Culminating a highly successful football season, this gala event was a joyous one for the members of the squad and their loyal adherents, who danced to excellent music by the student orchestra and chatted of the good year on the gridiron.

In a recent interview, Col. John Skeggs, state highway engineers, declared: "The bottleneck will be broken by the middle of January."

It had been hoped by the motoring public that the "bottleneck" would be broken before Christmas. But as this is not to be, they will be thankful that the road is widened in time for them to realize its benefits in the middle of next month.

Around The Area

Maybe to Court

The attorney for suspended South San Francisco police officer Charles Johnston hinted last week the case might be taken to the courts if city councilmen uphold the personnel board's recommendation to fire Johnston.

The city council will confer with the personnel board after reading the hearing transcript on Dec. 14, and will probably return a decision at that time.

Johnston's attorney, Antonio Gaudio, alleged the personnel board hearing was poorly handled and the "findings of fact and law" were illegally drawn.

He asked the city council to read the transcript before making a decision. The personnel board asked the council for a chance to explain their findings.

Real Close One

A South San Francisco couple narrowly escaped death last week when they hoped out of their car, stuck in a hole on the Southern Pacific railroad tracks in San Bruno before a train crashed into the vehicle, demolishing it.

L. C. Brown told police he and his wife had noticed a work barricade about 20 feet from the Scott street crossing, but had also seen tracks of other automobiles and decided to follow across.

The car became stuck in a deep hole in the east tracks, however, and Brown couldn't get it free. He tried for 15 minutes and then hearing the train coming from the south, he and his wife jumped from the car and ran to safety.

Renew Hall Bond Efforts

A citizens' campaign to place another Hillcrest juvenile hall bond issue before the voters within six months was started last week with election of Francis W. Murphy, former San Mateo muni judge, as chairman of the bond issue committee.

Murphy will select a group from those present at the citizens' meeting to form a fact-finding committee to investigate the juvenile hall problem.

"The committee will seek every possible fact about conditions at Hillcrest and then come up with a specific recommendation to the people at a future meeting," Murphy said.

Escape Leap

Search for a 16-year-old youth who leaped from a 250-foot ocean cliff Saturday morning to elude capture was called off Monday after reports were received in Redwood City indicating the youth may have escaped without suffering serious injury.

San Francisco police told Sheriff Earl B. Whitmore that they had investigated reports that the youth's father had been overheard yesterday morning boasting that he had seen the boy and that he had given him $20 and had sent him on his way to Canada. San Francisco authorities, however, were unable to substantiate the reports when the father denied making the statements attributed to him.

The leap followed a 75-mile-an-hour chase on Coast highway with Deputy Sheriff Joseph Galeoto and Paul Burton, reserve deputy, in pursuit of the youth and a 14-year-old companion in a stolen auto. The younger boy remained in the auto and was captured while his friend disappeared over the edge of the cliff.

Officers Save Life

The life of a newborn baby was saved by officers of four law enforcement agencies Monday in a predawn mercy effort. Members of the Menlo Park, Atherton and Redwood City police departments and the sheriff's office cooperated in rushing two pints of blood from Palo Alto to Sequoia hospital in time to save the baby's life.

The infant, a boy, was found to be an R-H factor baby, and the attending physician, Dr. Roger Wiley of Redwood City, ordered a complete transfusion.

Call Flood Crisis

Burlingame city council held an emergency meeting this week to discuss flood damage in the city estimated to be as high as half-a-million dollars. The meeting was held with the view of eventually placing a bond issue before the public to finance an adequate system of storm sewers.

Councilmen, who over the weekend placed all city public works employees on emergency 24-hour duty, met Sunday morning to examine the damage brought by the flood along California drive and in the Burlingame avenue business district.

THE CHRISTMAS SEAL X-ray truck, a familiar sight along the peninsula, has made 140,000 free chest X-rays. Last year 101 new cases of TB were reported in this county. Buy and use the traditional Christmas Seals to aid your San Mateo county Tuberculosis and Health Association in its constant fight against TB.

CHASING THE GREAT SOLVENT

By RIDGELY CUMMINGS

Money can be one of the most exciting of all commodities, especially if one is a little short.

On other occasions I have written about literature, art, science, love, drama and meeting movie stars. This last is also an exciting experience, especially when they are of the female variety and one happens to be male; or vice versa I suppose.

Such mundane things will occupy my attention again but at the moment I have a more pressing subject.

My subject is money and the pursuit of it. For I am fresh from the chase of filthy lucre, $676 per month to be exact, and will dispense with glamour to get down to finance.

There are very few problems in this vale of tears which I could not successfully solve with the aid of a steady income of $676 per month and this holds true, I hazard, for many of my readers.

I heard about this bonanza quite by chance, having gone to the public library to do a little research on Philip Wylie, a courageous and cantankerous writer of whom a beneficent editor has commissioned me to write an appraisal.

In the course of my browsing in the "W's" I passed a bulletin board. There, among advertisements of concerts and art shows, hung a mimeographed sheet aprising me of my chance to become a solid citizen, financially speaking. It was a succinctly worded announcement bearing the silhouette of a bear and the heading: California State Personnel Board.

It was not the bearish art work which drew my atention but the title of the examination—Public Relations Director for the Board of State Harbor Commissioners, and the salary range, $556-$676. Being of an optimistic nature, I logically began thinking in terms of the second figure.

In order to get on the payroll for that kind of money one doesn't just announce, like Barkis, that he is wiling. There are various preliminaries.

First of these is to fill out an application. To do this one must secure the blank. They were available downtown at the State Building, a modern edifice in the grimy slum section of the metropolis, reachable by an hour's ride from Hollywood.

Then follows a period of soul-searching recollection of all the various jobs one has ever held, the dates of tenure, the munificent rewards involved and a description of the services rendered in times past. These are put down in ink in tiny, not to say minute, spaces on the application form.

Charlotte Bronte, who I understand wrote in a mricoscopic hand and could get an entire chapter on a single sheet of foolscap, would have had no trouble with one of these employment blanks, especially since she didn't hold down many paid jobs during her short life. But anybody scribbling in a slightly larger hand will have difficulties.

Nevertheless with patience and writer's cramp I surmounted the blank-filling and mailed it away shortly before the final date for filing.

Came a period of silence and I actually forgot all about my lunge at $676 per month. Frequently I succumb to a hidden urge and make these desperate efforts at financial respectability anyway. Since nothing results from them, this one slipped my mind until a little card came in the mail.

Said the card: "Please report at the time and place indicated below to take the examination for Public Relations Director, for which your application has been accepted."

The time was 8 a.m. on a Saturday morning. The place was Manuel Arts high school at 40th and Vermont.

This address is some 100 blocks as the crow flies from my residence. By wingless public transportation it is even farther.

Not being able to think of any reasonable inducement to get one of my friends who has a car out of bed that early on a Saturday morning, I arose on the day in question at six a.m.

It was the earliest I had been up in months and I was surprised to see that it was still dark outside at that hour. But bolstered by the thought of money, money, money and encouraged by hot coffee at an all night restaurant on Hollywood boulevard, I bravely sallied forth.

Due to poor connections and the abominable Los Angeles transit system, I reached the high school at seven minutes after eight. Fortunately other tardy applicants were drifting in at the same time and the proctor gave us the question books and told us where to sit.

It was a large classroom with eight rows of seats. In each row there were about 25. Four of the rows were filled with aspiring game wardens and two were occupied by people taking some kind of accounting examination. The remaining two rows, about fifty seats all told, held my rivals for the one lone job as director of public relations for the port of San Francisco.

The accountants had two and a half hours in which to finish their exam, the game wardens had three hours and we harbor experts had five.

It is not considered kosher to reveal the contents of a civil service examination so I won't. It was long, exhaustive and comprehensive however. I came up for air about the time the accountants and game wardens were finishing and saw everybody in my rows still had their heads bent.

Although I was tempted to go back over the questions to see if I had committed any careless errors, I decided against it, having been without a cigarette since crawling out of the blankets that morning, something of a record.

Outside I smoked and waited for some of the other publicity men to finish and come out so I could check on some of my doubtful answers. Best I could get was game wardens, who naturally had answered questions about deer, antelope and migratory birds and had no knowledge of whether Cheltenham type was sans-serif or Roman, something I should have known anyway and will look up one of these days.

One of the game wardens mentioned casually that the same examinations had been given in San Francisco on the same day. Thus by performing a feat of higher mathematics, multiplying 50 by two, I arrived at the conclusion that on a purely numerical basis my chances of getting the position were one in a hundred or more.

Now, having gotten this out of my system, I will forget about $676 per month unless lightning strikes. If it does and I get the job, instead of Hollywood doings and literature, the readers of these epics will be subjected to tales of heroism on the high seas and humanized data about gross tonnage in and out of San Francisco Bay. It will be a sacrifice but I am willing to make it, all things considered and especially the great solvent.

ROUND THE CLOCK SUPER SERVICE SCHEDULED BY P. O. FOR XMAS RUSH

Round the clock super service is scheduled by the Post Office for handling the tremendous volume of Christmas mail, it was announced today by Postmaster John F. Fixa.

Processing of the mails this year is expected to involve a peak load of more than 5,000,000 letters and 150,000 packages a day, the Postmaster said.

Multiple deliveries will be the keynote of the extended service plan Fixa said, and added that several thousand temporary employees will be added to the Post Office rolls to expedite the handling of the Christmas mails.

To keep pace with the rising floodtide of holiday mail, extended hours were announced by the Postmaster. From Dec. 8 until the Christmas mailtide has ebbed, the Main Post Office will be open from 7:30 a.m. until 9 p.m. On Sunday Dec. 14 and Sunday Dec. 21, hours of service will be 9 a.m. to 9 p.m.

Rincon Annex, located at Spear and Mission streets, will be open from 7:30 a.m. until 12 midnight, including Sundays, beginning Monday, Dec. 8.

Branch stations will be open until 5:30 p.m. daily including Saturday, Dec. 13, and Saturday, Dec. 20, except those located in the financial section, Stations B, D and K, located respectively at Custom House, 44 Belden, 138 New Montgomery, including also Post Station at 68 Post street and City Hall station, which will remain closed on Saturdays, as usual.

Postmaster Fixa stresses that cooperation of the public is essential to smooth and efficient transit of the mails, to which end he urged observation of the "deadlines" as follows. Letters and parcels for Eastern States should be in the mails NOW. Mails for the Midwest and other non-local points should be enroute by Dec. 15. Mail for delivery in San Francisco should be underway by Dec. 18.

Valuable articles sent as gifts should be insured if sent by Parcel Post and Registered if sent first class. This applies in particular to jewelry and watches.

By using the ZONE NUMBER on all mail and tying Christmas cards in two bundles marked "ALL FOR LOCAL DELIVERY" or "ALL FOR OUT-OF-TOWN DELIVERY" and depositing early, your mail will be speeded considerably, Fixa added.

UNCLEVER AND COSTLY

"Flashy" drivers think it is clever to hold the car in second gear until high speeds are reached, points out the National Automobile Club. Such flashiness costs them dearly in gasoline, for the amount of gasoline consumed is about double that consumed under ordinary driving conditions. Shift into high before reaching twenty-five miles per hour, top.

CHILDREN APPEAR ON PANEL BEFORE PERSHING GROUP

At the December 4 meeting of General Pershing PTA the spotlight was shared by Linda Cole, Carol Bruch, Frankie Prisco and Kenneth Rix, children who appeared on a panel discussing television, and the Rev. Cannon Nelson.

The children were unanimous in picking the comedy programs as their favorites, however they were split in their answers when asked if they learned easier by watching television or reading from their books.

The Rev. Nelson is the director of social service for the Episcopal church of Northern California and a member of the executive board of family life service of San Francisco. His short talk was on spiritual and character education of our children. It was all the more interesting because he drew the audience into the discussion.

Plans are forming to have a festival in the latter part of February. It will be a "hang-up" affair, and members have been asked to watch for further details in THE RECORD.

Large Christmas Tree Stands At Sheridan School

A large Christmas tree stands in the entrance hall of Sheridan school, a gift to the children by the Parent Teacher Association. It has been decorated entirely by the children themselves with ornaments they have made in their classrooms. Everyone in the school is very proud of Sheridan's Christmas treet, which has become an annual tradition, and parents are invited to come to the school to view it.

Another gift from the Unit is a collection of children's records, personally selected by Miss Bahls, principal.

Other recent purchases by the Association were twelve sets of raincoats and hats for the School Safety Patrol, and 2000 Band-Aids for first-aid supplies.

There will be no regular business meeting for Sheridan PTA during the month of December due to the Christmas vacation.

The letter, directed to Lion president Hal Willis, said that although the Jefferson students lost the contest, they appreciated the part the Lions played in it, and would endeavor to claim the trophy for best sportsmanship next year.

1852 • Christmas came by candlelight

Long before electricity young eyes glowed as Christmas candles took flame. The light was short-lived and fire was a hazard—but then, as now, Christmas lights shed Christmas cheer.

1952 • Your whole house is bright with holiday light!

Modern Christmas lighting ideas outdo even the old-fashioned candlelight tree for charm and cheer. Safe, colorful light strings glorify your tree and make your front yard a wonderland that thrills the youngsters. Decorate trees, shrubs or the eaves of your house with lights that say hospitality and good will to young and old alike. Your local dealer has many new and inexpensive lighting ideas to suggest. See him for a brighter-than-ever Christmas now!

And look how P. G. and E. has cut the cost of lighting:
For 1 cent (based on use in typical San Francisco home)
1888—you could operate a 50-watt lamp for 1 hour
1952—you can operate a 50-watt lamp for 6½ hours
100 years experience has made good gas and electric service cheap!

Crocker PTA Bazaar Acclaimed Success; President Thanks All Those Who Aided

The Crocker PTA Bazaar held last Friday at the Crocker school was a very successful event. The PTA cleared approximately $300 for its school.

Mrs. Al Lyon, president, on behalf of the Crocker PTA, wishes to thank the following individuals and organizations for their support:

The parents for their donations and attendance at the bazaar; the faculty for giving so much time and effort to the event; the children of Crocker school for making the pot-holders and posters and for creating enthusiasm toward the event; all the bazaar chairmen who worked so hard to make the event a success; the nurseries of Daly City that donated plants and ceramics; Mr. Mario Giacchino for his whole hearted cooperation; the recreation department for the use of the tables; local merchants who displayed the bazaar posters in their windows; and Girl Scout Troop 148 for making and donating waxed flowers.

Both the Crocker PTA and the faculty are proud of the behavior of the children at the bazaar and at the movies that were shown by Mr. Thomas Scholten.

The proceeds from the bazaar were used to buy a television set as the yearly gift from the PTA to the school.

Sincerest thanks go to Ted Hopman for the donation of his profits on the television set.

From Dec. 8 to 19 the Crocker PTA is participating in the Daly City-Colma Lions club's toy, food and clothing drive for Christmas.

Highly recommended by motor car service experts is the practice of allowing the service station to check the tires every five thousand miles to see if front and rear tires should be switched, and whether the same thing should be done to those on the right and left sides of the car, reports the National Automobile Club. It is a way of prolonging tire mileages that never occurs to many motorists.

Frellson-Constantine Nuptials Held Friday at OLPH Church

Jacqueline Ann Frellson and George Constantine repeated the holy vows at Our Lady of Perpetual Help church last Friday with Father James Reilly officiating at the double ring ceremony.

The young bride wore a white nylon net ballerina length gown accentuated by a finger-tip length veil with a coronet of white beads and pearls.

Attendants were attired in pale green nylon net gowns, all of ballerina length.

The bride carried a bouquet of white carnations with white orchids, while her attendants carried the white carnation bouquets tipped in pale green with halos of the same hue.

Maid of honor and also recipient of the bride's bouquet was Joan Beecher.

Bridesmaids were Heather Bridges and Marjorie Constantine, sister of the groom.

Georgette Kleinheinz, the groom's niece, was flower girl and she carried a basket of pale sweet peas and baby roses.

Howard Heffner acted as best man for the groom and the two ushers were Junior Nordgren and Ed Vignali.

The bride, daughter of Frances Harlan, was given away by her grandfather, James J. Peket.

Vocalist at the nuptial ceremony was Claire Sirex, cousin of the bride, and she was accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Clara Sirex of San Carlos, the birde's aunt. Appropriate decorations were put up in the church by Jimmie Johnson and Dorothy Stewart.

A reception followed the wedding at the groom's mothers home in San Francisco. The couple plan to make their home in San Francisco.

The groom is the son of George Constantine of Daly City and Mrs. Brooks Glass of San Francisco.

The bride was graduated from OLPH grammar school and Jefferson high school.

Members of the art classes who assisted on the project were: Donna Dieter, Leonard Mullen, Berta Lee Cox, Trude Runge, Roberta Taylor and Beverly Crudo.

WATCH WHEEL WOBBLE

The fact that all wheels today are removable at the hub has not eliminated the danger of a wobbling wheel due to looseness in a lug nut, warns the National Automobile Club. Be sure that the nuts are taken up to the last degree after a tire change, a thing that is more easily accomplished if the wrench is used for a final twist after the jack has been removed.

Hillside PTA Will Meet at Thornton School Wednesday

Hillside PTA will hold its Christmas meeting in the domestic arts room at the Thornton school Dec. 18 at 8 p.m. The meeting will be held at this site due to the construction of Colma school units which has left no available parking space.

A 60-piece choral group, to be led by Mrs. M. Vint, will be part of the program as will a reed choir, led by Richard Snyder.

Marjorie Tobias, principal, has issued an invitation to parents to come and visit the children's yuletide displays anytime before Christmas.

Due to the construction of the new units at Colma school, Miss Tobias has asked that parents caution their children to keep out of the mud at the site where work is underway.

At the last regular gathering of the Hillside group, held Dec. 8, awards were presented in the recent fire prevention contest. Florence Verducci and Raymond Navarro, eighth grade students, received first and second prize medals, respectively, for their essay subject. Medals for original posters were also awarded to Paul Tapia and Buddy Earnshaw, seventh graders, and a pen set went to Lynn Atteberry, sixth grade, for a fine poster.

Judges Are Chosen For Xmas Home Decorating Contest

Judges for the Daly City-Colma Lions best Christmas-decorated home contest were chosen recently. They are: Mrs. A. Lyon, Mrs. G. A. Blackburn and Dan Andersen, city administrator.

Judging of the homes in the Daly City, Westlake, Broadmoor and Colma areas will take place on Dec. 22 and 23. A prize will be offered to winners in each of these sectors.

Those who wish to enter the contest may obtain entry blanks at the Colma or Daly City Bank of America buildings beginning Monday.

Joe Rohl is chairman of the contest.

JEFFS MISS ALL-PAL SPOT; BUTLER MAKES 2nd TEAM

Jefferson was left out in the cold as far as the Peninsula sportswriters association's 1952 All-Peninsula Atheletic league football team went.

Bill Butler, the Indians pass-snagging end, was named to the second team of the mythical squad. The 17-year-old Junior who stands 5 ft. 10 in. and weights 150 pounds was beaten out at the flanker positions by Bob Cerrato, Sequoia, and Larry Morris, Willow Glen.

Jefferson was not the only school to miss the first-string roster, as Capuchino, Menlo-Atherton and Palo Alto also failed to win a first-string berth.

However, the Jeff players who failed to receive the honor of selection all have a chance next year, with the exception of Nick Bockwinkel, fullback, the only senior. The entire first-string of the All-PAL team were senior with the exception of Schmidt, end, as were members of the second team, with the exception of the Indian's Butler.

Jefferson's back field made some impression on those casting votes for the league's top combination, since Ray Rosa, Wally Honeywell, and Bockwinkel all received honorable mention as backs.

The two elevens chosen were: (first team) Bob Cerranto, Sequoia, end; Phil Ritzau, Burlingame, tackle; George Cantaloub, Burlingame, guard; Bob Chartrand, Lincoln, center; Leroy Ottley, San Mateo, guard; Bob Butcher, South S. F., tackle; Larry Morris, Willow Glen, end; Bob Schmidt, Burlingame, back; Dick Jones, Lincoln, back; Doug Weis, Willow Glen, back; Mits Fukumura, San Jose, back.

(Second team) Bill Butler, Jefferson, end; Woody Wilmore, San Mateo, tackle; Augie Tassan, Burlingame, guard; Jerry Method, San Jose, center; Dave Goodman, Sequoia, guard; Gary Schneickert, San Joe, tackle; George Read, Palo Alto, end; Ralph Wensinger, San Mateo, back; Hank Loumena, Burlingame, back; Burl Lennier, South S. F., back; Jim Cherry, South S. F., back.

CENTRAL CLUB WINS ONE; STILL LEADS IN BOWLING COMPETITION

Central Club emerged with a one-game lead in the Daly City-Colma bowling league after Tuesday night's play, marking the 13th week of competition. The Central Clubbers now have 26 wins, 13 losses.

Hilltop Cab still remains in second place with a 25-14 mark, but managed to take only one game out of three this week. Last week's third-place team, Vince & Fred's, were blanked by Pearson & Rector and were moved down into a tie for fifth place.

The Daly City-Colma Lions took two games to nail down the third spot with 22 wins, 17 losses.

Mike Orlich, bowling for the Hilltop Market, hit high individual series of 558 while Frank Thur, of Thur Meat, nabbed high individual game, 224.

Thur Meat captured both high team game and high team series with score of 906 and 2565 respectively.

Babe DeLuca, Central Club's ace kegster who was lost to the club last week with pulled ligaments in his hand, came down with double pneumonia Tuesday night and has been hospitalized. Another member of the league-leading club, Bill Watson, has bid adieu to the team, and is replaced by John Piorkowsky, who holds a 167 average.

TAKE IT VERY EASY

DUCKS IN INYO COUNTY

Ducks have been showing up in Inyo county during the past few days, reports the National Automobile Club. More hunters are taking to the field in this area.

LIMITS OF QUAIL TAKEN

Many limits of quail have been taken during the past week by hunters working through the Fresno county area, according to the National Automobile Club.

DON'T CROWD

Don't crowd the rear end of a truck that you are trying to pass, advises the National Automobile Club. Stay far enough behind it to allow yourself plenty of room to pull back into line if the way ahead should be blocked by an approaching vehicle. And stay far enough behind to give yourself good visibility.

Baking soda, poured over the posts and then moistened, will remove any corrosive deposit and a slight coating of vaseline afterward will keep them clean.

Westlake PTA Meet At Jeff Marked With Xmas Gaiety

The December meeting of the Westlake PTA held at Jefferson Union high school last Thursday evening was marked with Christmas gaiety and the enthusiasm of 200 children of the Westlake school who participated in the program which followed a short business meeting.

After the pledge of allegiance and the singing of the Star Spangled Banner, Mrs. Edward Molkenbuhr Jr. read a character thought appropriate to the holiday season. Mrs. Howard A. Dunbar, president of the association, welcomed parents and visitors to the meeting.

Christmas Canasta

Mrs. Harold Epstein announced that the Christmas canasta party sponsored by the Executive Board would be held at the Clubhouse, Friday evening, Dec. 12, at 7:45 p.m. Tickets are 75c and still may be obtained by calling Mrs. Epstein at PL. 5-3046. There will be numerous prizes, among them two turkeys.

The association approved the action of the Executive board in purchasing eight raincoats for the traffic boys.

It was announced that the Executive board will given a luncheon for the faculty of the Westlake school, Wednesday, Dec. 17.

The meeting was then turned over to the program chairman, Mrs. Fred Kruse, who introduced the mistress of ceremonies for the even, Miss Barbara Votaw.

Skit Opens Program

Mrs. Fisher's fifth grade opened the program with a skit entitled, "The Advent of the Christmas Tree." The first grade pupils of Mrs. Maine and Mrs. Fernekes delighted the assembled parents with their Rhythm band, plaving "Rudolph the Red-Nosed Reindeer," "Jingle Bells" and "The Parade of the Wooden Soldiers." The glee club, under the direction of Mrs. Muriel Vint, sang a group of Christmas hymns. They were followed by Folk Dancing by the pupils of Mrs. Lamp's second grade doing "A Hunting We Will Go." Mrs. Miller's sixth grade also participated in folk dancing.

Variety Show

The fifth grade pupils of Mrs. Fisher, Mr. Hatch and Miss Hill provided a Christmas variety show featuring Ballet dancing, a pair of tap dancers, group singing of holiday songs, a skit "A Letter to Santa Claus" and an accordion solo.

The children prepared a wonderful program and they and their teachers are to be complimented on the fine entertainment presented without benefit of previous stage rehearsel.

Santa Claus, whose surprise visit was received with joyful acclaim by youthful voices, gave all the children candy, the gift of Mr. Henry Doelger.

The cake sale following the meeting was a great success and the chairman, Mrs. Sanford Schoenfeld, wishes to thank the fifth grade mothers who donated the many delicious cakes, and also the room mothers who assisted at the cake sale. Thirty-five dollars was the amount raised.

SANTA CRUZ AVE. NEIGHBORS IN "BIT OF TROUBLE"

A neighborhood misunderstanding that has been brewing "for more than a year" erupted this week as a small-scale feud.

Lee Taylor, 134 Santa Cruz avenue, first notified THE RECORD that he and some dozen other neighbors were going to do something about the police department tagging cars parked in the street at night. Taylor, who is the holder of seven such tags to date, said the law was unfair since only some of the cars parked in the street were tagged. (Police Chief Roland Petrocchi explained that cars were tagged only when a complaint was made.)

Wednesday Taylor was brought into Justice court on a charge of disturbing the peace on complaint filed by Sue Adams, 134 Santa Cruz avenue. He pled innocent and deposited $50 bail.

Taylor said he intends to bring a host of his neighbors to court with him next Wednesday to testify that he was not disturbing the peace.

"I don't know anything about disturbing the peace," he said. "When I come home I park my car and go inside the house."

According to Taylor, residents of the neighborhood have been plagued by complaints that their children or cars or both were in the street.

Final polishing of the plans for the unit's Christmas party was accomplished at the executive board meeting of the James L. Snell PTA held Wednesday evening, Dec. 3, at the home of Mrs. Raymond Duste, with Mrs. Larry Green, president, calling the meeting to order. Other items under discussion included announcement that the next rag drive will be held in May of next year.

Membership chairman, Mrs. R. N. Hilton, reported that the membership drive has netted 377 members to date, with hopes that the committee's goal of 400 will be reached by Christmas. Mrs. De Berry, whose class won the membership prize reported on the party held in her room, and of the enjoyment of the children.

The Daly City recreation department has once again included the Broadmoor children in their Christmas party, which will be held at the Serra Theatre on Monday, Dec. 22, for the youngsters in this area. Mrs. Richard Hart, recreation chairman, and some of her committee members will assist the other units in this combined project.

The rainwear exchange pool is still going on, and parents are asked to send usable, though outgrown, raincoats, and galoshes to school to their child's teacher.

The council agreed that knowledge of the condition there should be forwarded to the governor and the state highway commission and that they should be asked to provide some solution to the problem.

The council also passed a resolution cancelling a previous resolution, which had provided for a donation of $50 to the Red Cross.
